DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 16-18 are objected to because of the following informalities: In each of claims 16-18, paragraph "g", the terminology, "the raw material" lacks antecedent basis; and it appears the language should be changed to –the raw materials--. In each of claims 16-18, paragraph "h", the terminology, "the good" lacks antecedent basis; and it appears the language should be changed to –the goods--. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hafner et al. (US Patent 5,893,076) in view of Yamamoto et al. (US Patent 5,914,878) and Salvo et al. (US 6,341,271).

Hafner et al. discloses the claimed invention but is silent regarding adjusting a supply of raw materials; and comparing the amount of raw materials sold to a store with a calculated forecasted amount.

Yamamoto et al. discloses that it is known in the art to adjust the supply of raw materials.

Salvo et al. teaches a similar inventory control system whereby inventory monitoring permits prediction of estimated future inventory usage, real-time and future needs, inventory ordering (See, for example, Col. 3, lines 42-62); and further teaches comparing the amount of inventory sold to a store with the calculated forecasted amount (See, for example, Col. 10, line 62 – Col. 11, line 37).

Art Unit: 3627

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the interface of Hafner et al. with the ability to adjust the supply of raw materials, as taught by Yamamoto et al., in order to respond to production plans.

It would have been further obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to compare the amount of raw materials sold to a store with a calculated forecasted amount, in view of Salvo et al., in order to "increase productivity and quality" at the manufacturing site (See Salvo et al., Col. 11, lines 15-16).

Re claims 16-18: the limitation of determining a percentage of cost of the goods attributable to the raw materials is well known in the art of accounting when determining "cost of goods sold" and performing this step would have been an obvious design choice to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention.

All other claimed limitations are either disclosed, obvious to one of ordinary skill, or inherent.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art. Unit: 3627

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
